What Name for Hoover?
Lolordo's Last Drink.
A Modern Rich Man.
Mrs. Causekas' Bare Legs.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of the Review].

IF AMERICANS call President Coolidge "The Silent President," what will they call Mr. Hoover? He has been elected president of the United States, will begin his work in less than two months, and has been in Washington several days at work. How much has he talked? Not at all. Eight years more of business without conversation will suit this country very well. We have had, at various times, considerable periods of conversation without business.

CHICAGO gunmen might learn from the Lord Mayor in London. At the Lord Mayor's dinner a loving cup passes around. When you bury your face in the big tankard, and drink spiced wine, the man at your left rises and stands behind you. That custom comes from old days. The man standing was supposed to prevent your being stabbed in the back as you drank.

PASQUALINO LOLORDO hadn't heard of that. Three smiling friends offered to drink his health. He lifted his glass and the three smiling ones sent 11 bullets into his head, neck and shoulders. Lolordo succeeded Tony Lombardo, murdered not long ago, as a gang ruler.

VISCOUNT ENNISMORE, 22, heir of the Earl of Listowel, renounces title and his riches, calls himself a Socialist, and founds a company, "Neighbors, Ltd., to enable wealthy Socialists to give their money to the poor.

SUCH an organization was suggested 1900 years ago, but the idea has not been generally adopted.

Viscount Ennismore, who now calls himself William Francis Hare, when older, will realize that men want to do something while they live. For most of them, money is necessary, first to provide freedom of action, and second to make action possible.

MRS. MARY CAUSEKAS thought it unnecessary to wear stockings, tried bare legs in public, and spent three months in jail, in virtuous Pottsville, Pa.

The lady should have chosen Palm Beach or the light opera stage. Pottsville was a mistake. The judge, when he reached her case, let her go, on the ground that a washerwoman's bare legs are no worse than those of a Palm Beach beauty, or glorified girl.

THE New York Academy of Medicine, with the free-will co-operation of distinguished doctors all over the country, prepares information on all medical questions, and issued recently a statement of medical progress in the year past.

MOST important is discovery of a cure for pernicious anaemia, hitherto deadly.

In dissecting bodies of those dead of anaemia, scientists discovered that the liver always lacked a certain substance. That substance is now supplied, in the form of an extract from normal liver, and the anaemia is cured.

ANOTHER important discovery shows, in cancer, power in certain cells to reproduce and grow abnormally, creating a cancerous tumor. Whence that power comes science does not know. It originates in irritation of the tissues.

THIS is the richest country in the world, but everything is comparative and real money is scarce. All money circulating in the United States amounts to less than five thousand millions of dollars, about $41.77 for each American.

OUR great wealth, of course, is not in dollars, but in values not yet changed into dollars; mines, mills, oil, wells, power. There are two or three men in the country whose property, rightly appraised, would probably

MRS. M'NICOL, AGED 63, DIES

Funeral Services Will Be Held Monday Morning.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson McNicol, 63, widow of John C. McNicol, died last night in her home in West Fifth street, after a week's illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. McNicol was born in Ottawa, Canada, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Anderson, who moved to East Liverpool when she was four years old. She was married to John C. McNicol in 1889. She was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic church.

SHOCK OF MILL ACCIDENT IN CHESTER KILLS W. S. WYNN, 45

Shearman Dies After Mass of Metal Breaks Legs.

CRANE BLAMED

Victim Leaves His Parents and One Sister.

William S. Wynn, 45, shearman, of Florida avenue, Chester, W. Va., died at 2 o'clock this morning in the Presbyterian hospital, Pittsburgh, as a result of shock following injuries sustained at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when his legs were fractured by a fall of metal in the Chester plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company.

The accident occurred in the shipping department when Wynn, who was working between a traveling crane and a large pile of metal, when the latter toppled after being jarred by the movement of the crane.

He was removed to the mill emergency hospital where he was attended by Dr. E. J. Simpson, mill physician, after which he was taken to the hospital in the G. A. Arner motor ambulance.

ROOSEVELT HITS AL SMITH "PET"

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today tossed overboard one of former Governor Al Smith's pet proposals—the consolidation of the smaller counties of the state.

"I am not going to take up the question of consolidation of counties but later I will take up the question of the improvement of town and county governments," Roosevelt said.

This statement was regarded at the capitol as the first real split between the present executive and former Governor Smith. It may have a far-reaching effect in the management of the Democratic party in New York state.

Veteran political leaders at the capitol look upon Governor Roosevelt's declaration that he will not press the question of consolidation of county governments as virtually serving notice on Al Smith that there is a new captain of the Democratic ship in this state.

TRAVELING BAG IN AUTO RIFLED

A. E. Frost, Bridgeport, Conn., reported to police late last night that his traveling bag, containing toilet articles, men's shirts and other clothing had been rifled while it was left in an automobile parked in front of the Samuel Frost home, Smithfield street.

The clothing was removed and the bag replaced in the machine. Frost was called here by the death of his mother, Mrs. Samuel Frost last Saturday.

Coats, robes, suit cases, tools and other equipment have been taken from automobiles parked in the Northside district in recent weeks. Several refrigerator robberies also have been reported there.

C. OF C. SPEAKER

Will Irwin, war correspondent, magazine writer and novelist, will be the guest speaker at the thirteenth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the main dining room of the Travelers' hotel, East Fourth street, Thursday, Jan. 24. Irwin was a member of President-elect Hoover's "good will" party on the recent South American tour.

JOSEPH SMITH QUILTS POTTERY UNION PLACE

Fifth Vice-president Accepts Philadelphia Post.

WELFARE CHIEF

Member of N. B. O. P. For 35 Years; Presser By Trade.

Successor to Joseph Smith, who has resigned the fifth vice-presidency of the national Brotherhood of Operative Pottery, will be named by the executive board probably next week, it was announced today.

Smith has accepted an appointment as manager of the Odd Fellows' Welfare bureau, an employment organization, in Philadelphia, where he has lived since leaving East Liverpool several years ago.

He has been a member of the executive board for three and one-half years, now serving his second term. He has been identified with the Brotherhood for 35 years. For 13 years he was recording secretary of the East Liverpool Trades and Labor council. He has also served on the executive board of the Ohio State Federation of Labor and on the western general was standing committee. He has been a delegate to 15 N. B. O. P. conventions.

Smith began work as a mould runner at the Dresden pottery and later learned the trade of a presser. After working at the Dresden plant for 11 years he went to the Colonial pottery where he was employed for 13 years. Recently he has been working at the Mohican pottery in Philadelphia.

Three sisters of Smith live in East Liverpool. They are: Miss Nellie Smith, dental worker at the No. 7 Laughlin plant; Mrs. Emma Joyce, who is employed in the bisque warehouse at the No. 4 Laughlin plant; and Mrs. Anna Ross at home. Henry Smith, a caster at the Bailey-Walker China company's plant, Bedford, is a brother.

Yankees Purchase Chambersburg Club NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Officials of the New York Yankees today confirmed a report that they had purchased the Chambersburg club of the Blue Ridge league. Tom Clark, former Cincinnati catcher, will manage the Virginia "farm," it was said.

WELLS URGES TARIFF BOOST FOR AMERICAN CERAMIC TRADE

Newell Manufacturer Seeks Additions on China Ware.

RATES SUGGESTED

Business Hurt by Japan And Czecho-Slovakia.

W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer and general manager of the East Liverpool and Newell plants of the Homer Laughlin China company, as spokesman for the American ceramic industry, yesterday afternoon appealed to the house ways and means committee at Washington for higher tariff on pottery.

Wholesalers O. K. Proposals. Appearing before the committee with other representatives of the United States Pottery association, National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery, importers and jobbers, Wells urged retention of the present ad valorem rate of 60 per cent of white china and 70 per cent on decorated china with addition of a new rate of 25 cents a dozen on china ware. An additional 15 cents a dozen rate on earthenware, was asked.

It was declared by manufacturers that wholesalers agreed with them, declaring that their business had been hurt by importations from Japan and Czecho-Slovakia of wares selling in five and ten-cent stores.

Glassware Protection Asked. Sharp increases in the tariff duties on glassware were urged today. The proposal included an increase of the ad valorem tariff on perfume bottles and jars from 55 to 82½ per cent; and ad valorem rates of 65 per cent on surgical articles and utensils; 60 per cent on all glassware known commercially as plated or case glass; 55 per cent on bottles and jars of glass or paste, table or kitchen articles, and 50 per cent on kitchen articles when pressed or unpainted or undecorated.

THOMAS L. SHAW, AGED 67, DEAD

Thomas L. Shaw, 67, potter, died last night in his home, 916 Dresden avenue, following a short illness of a complication of diseases.

Mr. Shaw, who was born in England, had lived in East Liverpool for 30 years.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Shaw, one daughter, Mrs. Dana K. Harvey, Cleveland; two brothers, Alfred and Arthur Shaw, and two sisters, Mrs. Priscilla Tarr and Mrs. John Richey, all of East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

45 ATTEND POWER CLASS BANQUET

Forty-five guests attended a banquet given in the social rooms of the First Methodist Episcopal church recently by the Power class.

MAN IS SLAIN IN GUN BATTLE

Two Patrolmen are Wounded in Toledo; One Critical.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 11.—The gunman who late last night shot and wounded two patrolmen and was himself killed in a gun battle, was identified here today as Mike Hanchar of Hamtramck, Mich. The condition of Patrolman Charles Dooley, who was shot below the waist, was considered critical at noon today.

"WITCH" DEATH DEFENDANTS

Here is the new courthouse in York, Pa., where John Curry (left), John Blymer and Wilbert Hess went on trial for the murder of Nelson D. Rehmyer, wealthy recluse. The trio admitted, in their preliminary examinations, that they had slain Rehmyer because he had "put a spell" upon a relative. Blymer was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. Curry probably will know his fate by nightfall. Hess is awaiting trial.

Defer Church Census Here Until October

Ministerial Association Approves Postponement Because of Sickness in Community; Plans District Pastors' Banquet Jan. 28.

East Liverpool pastors, at a meeting of the ministerial association in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, approved a proposed church census here, but, upon recommendation of the committee, postponed it until next October because of illness in the community.

The census plan was referred to the Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ; the Rev. J. H. Lawther, of the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. R. C. Beechley, of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

Ministers, assisted by lay members, will make a house-to-house canvass to determine religious affiliations or preferences.

Annual banquet for East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell pastors and their wives will be held in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. on Monday, Jan. 28. The Rev. W. E. Hammacher, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, Youngstown, will be the speaker.

Several East Liverpool ministers will attend the annual Ohio Pastors' conference at Columbus, January 21-24. This conference, which is expected to attract 1,200 Protestant pastors, will be addressed by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Brooklyn; Bishop Francis J. McConnell, New York, and other prominent clergymen. The Rev. E. A. Walker, secretary of the ministerial association, was named to receive reservations for the trip which will be made by motor.

HONOR MEMORY OF V. C. M'CRORY

The McCrory five and ten-cent store, Fifth and Market streets, will be closed between 1:30 and 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon out of respect for Van C. McCrory, son of J. G. McCrory, head of the company, who was accidentally shot and killed while hunting in Orlando, Fla., recently.

Funeral services for the gun victim will be held in his home in Indiana, Pa., McCrory stores throughout the United States closing during the services.

Widow Will Inherit $1,000,000 Estate Left by Tex Rickard

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Maxine Elliott Rickard, the widow of the late Tex Rickard, inherited the bulk of the millionaire sports promoter's estate, by terms of the will made public today.

DR. M'CANDLESS IS APPOINTED VETERINARIAN AT COLUMBUS

Cooper's Director of Agriculture Names Aide.

$3,600 POSITION

Second Major Place is Given Columbiana County.

Dr. Chauncey C. McCandless, Salem veterinarian, formerly of Lisbon, was today appointed stated veterinarian under Governor-elect Myers Y. Cooper.

The appointment was made by Percy L. Green, Hiram, who will be director of agriculture in Cooper's cabinet.

Dr. McCandless will go to Columbus Monday to qualify for the post, which pays $3,600 a year.

While the state post will require his full time, Dr. McCandless will maintain his home in Salem, returning there for the weekends. He is the second Columbiana county man to get a state position in the Cooper administration. Will T. Blake of East Liverpool having been named director of industrial relations about a week ago.

Dr. McCandless, who is 36 years of age, was born in Butler county, Pennsylvania, Nov. 11, 1892. He graduated from the Chicago Veterinary college in 1915 and established an office in Lisbon where he maintained a hospital for about 11 years. About a year ago he located in Salem. He has gained for himself a wide reputation in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

He took a special course in animal surgery at the Indiana Veterinary college at Indianapolis, and also at the College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. He is a member of the Ohio and American Veterinary organizations and also of the United States Livestock Sanitary association.

He is World War veteran, and served in France during the war. He is a member of the American Legion and Lisbon grange and a director in the Columbiana county Mutual Insurance company. He has a wife and one daughter.

NEGRO SLAYER TO DIE TONIGHT

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 11.—John Bradshaw, Columbus negro will go out in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary tonight shortly after 7 o'clock. He is to pay his debt to society for the murder of Mrs. Kate Young, negro, nearly a year ago.

Bradshaw appears more worried over what kind of funeral he is going to have than he does over the fact that he is to die, according to prison officials. Bradshaw wants a brass band to play at his funeral and wants to repose in a cedar casket. He is said to have $900 in insurance which he figures will pay for the type of burial he wishes.

One Idea at a Time—

Try to get the picture of yourself as a farmer with a field of corn.

If the crop of corn is to be successfully brought to maturity, you must ruthlessly weed out everything that tries to grow in the field except corn. All must be sacrificed for the benefit of the corn. The wise farmer has a place for each crop, and he keeps each crop to its place. Most people do not fail through lack of new ideas, but through inability or lack of courage to stick to old ideas.

Wilkins-Hearst Party Quits Polar Region

Antarctic Expedition About to Return to Civilization After Deciding to Postpone Further Explorations Until Next Season.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A copyrighted article written by Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, published in The New York American and associated Hearst newspapers today announces that members of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic expedition are about to return to civilization.

"We have decided to postpone further exploration until next season
—Captain Sir Hubert, who is commander of the expedition, said, "because of the unusual meteorological conditions during the early part of our season and the fact that our discoveries show that Graham Land is a group of islands, not part of the Antarctic continent and not offering, as we thought it would, a connected line in case of engine failure."

The article adds that the explorers intend to look for a safe place today in which to store their machines and equipment until next year's venture into the frozen Polar regions. When the party returns it was also said, an effort will be made to find a more southerly base for explorations.

Dies Saving Kittens

Little Virginia Dougherty, just

Brooklyn, saved her brother
Jack's pet kittens from fire which roared through basement of her parents' home, but she gave her own life in return.
The small heroine died several hours after she stumbled fire.

OHIOAN ADMITS BRASS THEFT

Springfield Lad in Alleged Ring Changes
Plea.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Jan. 11.—John Bauer, youthful member of a ring of four alleged brass thieves, rather than face a trial by jury before Judge Golden C. Davis, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty to a charge of grand larceny, late yesterday.

Bauer, with his counsel, appeared before Judge Davis and formally withdrew his plea of not guilty to the indictment and pleaded guilty.

The other three men named in the joint indictment with Bauer are Carl Brown, Thomas Brown, and Earl Williams. Their trial has been set for today.

Bauer's change of plea may result in his being called as the star witness for the state, against the men with whom he was jointly indicted.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Industrial stocks surged ahead this morning under the lead of the motors, steels and public utilities. The weekly brokers loan reported told the story of heavy buying of stocks by the "big fellows" and the squeezing out of the thinly-margined accounts of the small traders. With a new two-billion dollar merger looming in the Light and Power company, under Morgan and Drexel backing, the public utility stocks on the big board and the curb were treated to another powerful buying wave which forced prices higher.

The "good news" for the motor stocks included the raising of Nash's dividend to 6 per cent.; the large increase in orders for new cars taken at the automobile show in New York and the speeding up of the working schedules of the Studebaker, Hupp, Ceneral Motors and other well-known producers of popular cars. Studebaker carried its spectacular upward move to 88 3/4, at the same time maintaining its position of leadership in the motor car group. United States Rubber boomed along to above 51 on the promise of better tire business in 1929.

The bulls were firmly in the saddle, riding rough shod over the bears in the speculative favorites.

ONCE POOR, RESTAURANT OWNER GIVES PARTY TO HUNGRY MEN

BOSTON.—John Carzi, well known restaurant proprietor, is contented again, his annual "debt to America" having been paid when he gave free meals to 2,500 "down-and-outers."

This is the second year that Carzi has given a party to the destitute.
When he came to this country twelve years ago, he was nearly penniless and he feels that he owes a "debt to America" because this country has given him an opportunity to live.

The Good Samaritan provided 750 pounds of fresh pork, 85 pounds of fresh ground beef, 600 loaves of bread, plenty of vegetables and more than 200 gallons of coffee, topping off with pie and ice cream.

Thank You, Mayor Fogo

East Liverpool should not overlook Mayor Wallace L. Fogo of Wellsville in thanking her own and other fire fighters who responded to the call in the $10,000 blaze which swept a section of the St. Clair avenue business district Monday night.

Because of his Good Samaritan instincts, Wellsville's mayor is a patient in the City hospital, suffering from a fracture of the right leg. He sustained the injury when he stumbled over a line of hose and fell on an icy sidewalk while directing his own firemen in the assistance they gave in checking the flames which razed the Buckeye Lumber and Building company's mill and damaged other structures.

Without thought of his own health, which has been impaired by civic work outside his own office, Mayor Fogo, in the absence of a fire chief by reason of a recent resignation, assumed the leadership of his own volunteers on the trip to the East Liverpool blaze. And fate, which has been unkind to him in recent months, sent him to a hospital bed. This injury followed a few weeks' incapacitation as a result of a fall in his own town.

East Liverpool will not forget the kindness of the Wellsville's city's executive, a man who has the interest of his neighbors as well as the welfare of his own town at heart.

Stark County Law-Abiding

Unfortunately for Stark county, Columbiana's neighbor, there have been a number of crimes within its borders in recent weeks which have attracted considerable attention in other cities. As a result of widespread newspaper publicity, some people have gained the impression that Stark county is a hotbed of crime—a place where murderers run at large, ready to kill without warning.

Such a picture, of course, is erroneous. The type of crime recently committed in Stark county has been so filled with mystery that the public demanded every possible detail. And because of this the newspapers devoted many columns of space to the affairs. It does not necessarily follow that Stark county is a rendezvous for murderers. On the contrary Stark county probably is as law-abiding a community as one will find anywhere.

The latest tragedy to confront the authorities of the county horrifies by its brutality, but it is a crime which originated spontaneously, and which was not the work of any man known to the authorities as having a record. For this reason it is unjust to the authorities to refer to Stark county as the habitat of characters from the half-world.

It is to be hoped, of course, that the murderer of John A. Osler, Jr., and his wife, now apprehended, will be dealt with speedily. The same desire was expressed at the time Vernard Fearn was slain at his home. That crime solved itself, with the suicide of a woman who is said to have confessed her affair to her husband. The husband is in jail awaiting trial for possible complicity in the woman's death.

While it is unfortunate that murders of this character occur, it is well to remember that they will occur constantly. And it is well to remember that Cleveland, Chicago, Toledo, New York, Columbus and scores of other cities have had similar cycles of murders, most of which have been cleared up by the hard working officials, and without permanently staining the communities where they happened.

Greatest Sustained Flight

An army experimental airplane yeelped the Question Mark has returned to earth after more than 150 hours of uninterrupted flying. This is by all odds the greatest sustained flight ever made by man, and establishes a record which will no doubt stand against all attack for many days.

And better than the mere record itself, the flight proved the feasibility of refueling in the air, of man's resistance against the cramped quarters of a cabin plane, of the perfection attained by motor manufacturers, of the durability of the ships themselves—in short, of the great strides forward made by heavier-than-air craft in recent months.

No greater aviation event has been attained since Colonel Lindbergh's epochal flight than the achievement of the Question Mark. It proves that rigid flying machines are practical in sustained flight if it is possible to refuel them. And further than that, when the motor is taken down and inspected it will be discovered if there are weaknesses, and if any are found, they may be rectified. The whole aviation world will be materially benefited by the success of the Question Mark's flight.

Louisiana Purchase

Of all of the anniversaries which Americans celebrate, those which commemorate national real estate deals are the rarest.

"The greatest peace-time acquisition of land in the history of man," we are told was the purchase of Louisiana from Napoleon. A body of land larger than the total of the original 13 states acquired without the loss of a life is no mean chapter in our history. The gaining of title to 1,171,000 square miles for the sum of $15,000,000 places Jefferson and his agents in the front rank of real estate dealers. To be more exact it might be better to say that his agents were the better dealers, for Jefferson, it is said, had a small conception of the value of the land; rather did he think it "valuable or worse" as a piece of property. What he most concerned about was a Mississippi trade outlet. Madison, too, was not optimistic, as shown by his statement that the purchase "would tend to a dissolution of the Union."

The fact is that the general opinion of the times was that the wily Napoleon had pulled off a sharp deal in disposing something which he was sure to lose. Now, 124 years after the formal transfer of the territory, New Orleans celebrates the event, and in the very room of the famous Vieux Carre where the original ceremony took place. Members of the Louisiana Historical society take the place of the envoys. News photographers and movie cameras record the action. Napoleon may carry through the pages of history some unsavory memories, but we can well be glad that he "sharped" us in a real estate deal.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—There seems to be no limit to the extension of the installment plan. It has reached its highest development in the United States and each year sees a further extension of this system of deferred payment for almost anything under the sun. The fact that such is the case may be ascribed to two outstanding elements: first the high standard of honesty of Americans and, second, the vast volume of business, as compared with all other countries, which makes it possible for sellers according instalments accommodation to absorb such losses due to dishonesty as do occur.

The bureau of education has just invited attention to the spread of the installment plan to the purchase of an education. The bureau announces that there are now 282 colleges and universities in the United States which give instruction and take payment on the installment plan. Some years ago such an idea would have been regarded as preposterous, just as the deferred payment plan in general merchandising would have been considered.

It was not so many years ago that confidence in human honesty was so slight that a purchaser and seller stood, the one holding his money in one hand and the other the purchase and neither would let go until he had his own hand on the article desired—the money in one case, the package in the other.

Extending the deferred payment plan to education is carrying the idea a long way. If a man purchases a tangible object, one which is not consumed with its use, the seller if he does not get his pay has a plain remedy at law. He may sue out what is known as a writ of replevin, which is a court order forcing the holder of the article in question to return it. But no writ of replevin could possibly run against a student who had acquired an education and then failed to pay for it. No court can deprive a man of an education, once it has been acquired.

Yet installment plan education has advanced so far, according to the bureau, that some $4,000,000 now are lent annually to students who can not afford to pay their tuition. These are in no sense scholarships; they are sales on time payments. The student applies to such institutions as make a practice of installment plan education. His personal character is inquired into, his general trustworthiness, and special attention is given to his earnestness and his real desire to equip himself better by education. Also, attention is often given to the applicant's native ability to absorb and make use of an education. There are many persons in the world to whom an education would be practically useless, at least so far as adding to earning power is concerned.

If the applicant meets these tests he is admitted to the school without payment of any tuition. The college has no security whatever save the character and innate honesty of the student. He is permitted to take a full four year course without putting up a penny. Nor is this plan one which could be described as C. O. D., for payment is not expected at graduation. Such a student does not have to pay his money down for his diploma. He goes out into the world to take up some profession or business and not until after his education has begun to pay dividends is he expected to begin the installment payments to the school. Different schools have different methods and some have a variety of terms to meet the requirements of the student. Generally, however, it is agreed between the student and the college authorities that payment shall commence at a definitely stated time after graduation.

The bureau also points out that a large number of institutions which are not schools themselves have established funds for the express purpose of making loans to students desiring to take college courses but lacking tuition money. These make loans to deserving aspirants, the money being repaid in instalments.

A list of such institutions is given as follows: Knights Templar Educational Foundation, The Harmon Foundation, The Henry Strong Educational Foundation Fund, Florida Loan corporation, Hester Foundation, Inc., the Curtis College Loan fund, F. J. Barrett Foundation, American Association of University Women, Daughters of the American Revolution, International Student Committee of the Y. M. C. A., the Educational Foundation Loan Fund of the American Bankers Association, and denominational loan funds of the Baptists, Congregational, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, and United Brethren churches. Also Parent-Teacher associations in some cities have funds to lend for education purposes as well as some Rotary clubs.

In England, in sharp contrast to this American installment plan education system, the apprentice system in the trades still persists. The parents of a young man will want him to learn to be an architect, an engineer, a surveyor, or whatnot. They will go, say, to an engineering firm and make arrangements for the boy to learn the profession. They must pay down in advance a substantial sum of money. In a few cases, the boy is paid a very small stipend, not enough to live on; and in others he is paid nothing at all. At the end of a term of years, he may be employed by the firm or may merely be turned loose to find a job for himself. But in the United States one can buy everything under the control of man on the installment plan. The most interesting lesson is that, in every branch to which the deferred payment plan has been extended, the loss through default are trifling.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. Was Virginia Dare born in Virginia or North Carolina? L. B. C.

A. Virginia Dare, the first child born in America of English parents, was born on Roanoke Island, then Virginia but now North Carolina, in 1587.

Q. Where is the Nine Men's Misery Monument? T. B. A. It is on the grounds of the Monastery, Cumberland, Rhode Island. This is where Captain Michael Pierce's comrades made their last stand and were put to death by the Indians in King Philip's War.

Q. Where is the largest electric furnace in the world located? N. N.

A. Milwaukee claims to have the largest. It can accommodate a standard box car and is said to be three times as large as any previous, built. It uses 1,400,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a month and will heat 400,000 pounds of metal at a time to a maximum temperature of 1650 degrees Fahrenheit.

Q. Was the draft law in use during the World war constitutional? C. F. L.

A. There were a number of cases taken to the Supreme Court regarding the draft during the World war. In every instance the constitutionality of the draft law was upheld.

Q. What is the oil production in the United States a day? B. M.

A. It is now estimated to be about 2,500,000 barrels a day.

Ritzy Rosalie

Rosalie doesn't care for leopards in the flesh but she thinks the new lounge leopards of the real fur or velvet are a clever addition to one's boudoir—and much smarter than the boudoir doll which has been popular for so long a time. A jeweled collar and topaz eyes add to his majesty's charm. Or if one prefers a more docile animal the problem is solved in the choice of one of the musical pillows with an applied replica of one's pet dog, made out of a real pet. The pillow is piped in black and comes in boudoir shades. The slightest pressure on the satin pillow brings forth sweet melody, and a mysterious element is added by the fact that there is no visible evidence of its musical qualities and that no winding is necessary. ## NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. — Thoughts while strolling: Those rare window displays at Saks. Norman Bel-Geddes stuff. Benign white haired gentlemen who growl if you get in their way. Baby doll faces with serpent wise eyes. The kind who are always being insulted at apartment house parties.

Blanche Ring's happy smile. Heywood Brown with a fresh haircut. Earl Carroll's angelic expression. Fifth Avenue restaurant offers chill. And why not. Something sad about the stark naked trees in Central park. But the robins will soon be tugging at worms again. Tra la!

Wonder what the bus checkers who stand in doorways do with their reports. Tappe, the man milliner from Sidney. O. Zero in comedy—those comedians who bark like dogs at dogs on leashes. Something depressing about bugle call. Hatless boys with pipes who rush madly along. Those unctious husbands of rich women.

All night beauty parlors that open at 4 p. m. And the bright ladies who leave them so cosmetically bedecked for the evening. The bandbox gyp theatrical agencies. Grantland Rice, a Murfreesboro, Tenn. boy, who made good in the city. Sign. "Madame Finnigan—Gowns."

What became of the craze for bois de rose? The hotel stayer who is a striking image of Lloyd George. Times Square-heads. Barney Gallant has become Bernard in the telephone book. The boys who play bridge and dance expertly in this town do not need to work. Abject beggars who work the limousines.

Wonder if drug stores still employ pharmacists. Never a store in New York when the streets are not torn up. Still it furnishes a lot of work for the Tammany boys. Rita Welman and her husband. Overheard: "She lives in the snootiest block on Park Avenue." Which block is that? Wish I could sit down at a piano and touch off one of those rippling little airs. Or discuss poetry and art in a careless easy way. Instead of sitting like a statue. And just as inarticulate, Ina Claire stepping out of the Ritz. Those stooped and venerable messenger "boys."

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

If a baby thinks and could talk, what a lot we might learn about home treat infants. It is true that a youngster may yell its protest, yet we are often at a loss to know just what it is that displeases the child. We are not sure whether it is gas or a pin.

Isn't a bad idea to be imagining often how you would feel if circumstanced exactly as the child is. As an example, suppose you try to think how you would feel if you were bundled up with a couple of thick army blankets, a woolen hood and long, thick stockings.

In these modern days many tiny babies are swaddled in thick and tight clothing and older children are dressed in short socks and shorter skirts. It wouldn't be a bad idea to strike an average between the two practices. The baby needs the effects of sunshine on the skin. That gives a good idea of the health of the grown-up. Its condition determines to a great extent the welfare of the baby.

Activity of the skin depends on the circulation of the blood. This in turn is determined by the care of the body's surfaces. The doctor makes a close study of the skin and the mother will do well to imitate him.

Exposure to sunshine is one of the very best ways to keep the skin in prime condition. Exercise is another important consideration.

Now you will laugh at me, "Surely," you say, "you do not expect an infant to get out every day for a long walk." No, I don't. But babies require exercise even if they cannot walk. Strip off all those thick garments and bands. Then see what the baby does.

Find a place in your house where a wide couch, the bed, or a strip of carpet can get the full effect of the bright sunshine. Make sure it is warm enough in that room not to chill the baby. Spread a sheet on the chosen spot and place the naked baby there.

My, what a time of giggling and kicking it will have! Let the little chap kick and squirm to his heart's content. That is baby's way to getting exercise. That is the way nature intended to strengthen the muscles and improve the circulation.

Improvements have been made in the manufacture of glass. It is made now so that the material which cuts out certain qualities of light is eliminated. The sunlight has all its good effects, which cannot be felt unless such glass is used in the windows. But if the day is warm enough to open the direct rays of the sun and every bit of their virtues. But if you haven't the new-fangled glass give your baby all you can of the sunlight, even if it is filtered through ordinary glass.

Keep the skin clean by regular bathing. If the skin does not act as it should have the tub bath as hot as it can be borne and continue it rather longer than usual. Sweating is good for everybody.

The more active the skin is the less strain will be placed on the kidneys. In this way the poisons of the body are eliminated.

Other Editors Say

Lynchings.

Figures collected by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People show only nine lynchings in the United States in 1928. Authentic records, from 1885 to 1926, inclusive, show the 1928 total to be by far the lowest. There were 16 lynchings in 1924 and 17 in 1925 but the 1926 record jumped to 30—seven whites and 23 negroes. Monroe N. Work, head of the research and record department of the Tuskegee Normal and editor of the Negro Year Book, prepared a table for the 1928 World Almanac showing that from 1885 to 1926, 1,045 whites and 3,205 colored persons were lynched—a total of 4,250. The largest number was 255 in 1892. For the next year the total was 200. Soon after the beginning of the present century the total dropped below 100 and has dwindled gradually. From 1889 to 1924, Georgia and Mississippi led in numbers, the former with 423 Negroes and 24 whites and the latter with 419 Negroes and 26 whites.—Indianapolis News.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Are You an Easy Mark?

You may be so good-natured that folk impose on you.

It is the easy-going man upon whom people pick as the one to be talked into doing things he should not do.

It may be easier for you to say "yes," if by saying "no" you should precipitate an argument.

Isn't it true that you have been persuaded into doing things which you regretted, because you did not want to give the time or attention to debate?

You don't like wordy battles.

For this reason you are looked upon as a man without decided opinions.

Too lazy to discuss things that make you think hard and fast, aren't you?

So you are victimized to a certain extent.

You are aware of it, and too often don't oppose it because you do not want to be disturbed.

Then you wonder why you are not taken more seriously.

You would like to be considered of good judgment.

But what evidence of this quality do you possess?

Too easy and too lazy to fight for your convictions—what are you?

Merely an easy mark for those who want to use you to their own advantage.

Motorist's License Is Revoked by Baker

Frank Kendall Arraigned Before Acting Mayor On Charge of Driving Car While Intoxicated; Fine Suspended.

WELLSVILLE, O., Jan. 11.—Declaring that intoxicated automobile drivers are a menace to all other motorists and, consequently, should not be permitted freedom of the highways, Acting Mayor Clyde Baker last night revoked the license of Frank Kendall, Wellsville, at a hearing in police court here.

It was Baker's second night "on the job." The president of council Wednesday night took the executive chair in place of Mayor Wallace L. Fox, who is a hospital patient suffering from a fractured right leg.

Kendall, according to Baker, was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while he was intoxicated, the arrest being made at the one-way bridge over Little Yellow creek.

Kendall's car, it is said, collided with another machine, driven by a Steubenville man. Both automobiles were damaged.

At a hearing before Baker, Kendall was fined $50 and costs, ordered to pay the costs of repairs to the Steubenville man's car, and lost his license for the remainder of the year.

Flu Creating Phenomenal Demand for Vicks VapoRub

Although the flu itself is not so serious as in 1918, authorities stress the importance of taking every possible precaution for fear of the complications which invade the weakened system after a flu-attack.

They urge, especially, prompt treatment of every cold, as colds lower the body resistance and make it easier for flu or pneumonia to get a foothold.

That the public is heeding this warning is indicated by the phenomenal demand for Vicks VapoRub, the famous external treatment which helped to tame almost overnight during the 1918 epidemic. In spite of tripled capacity, the Vicks laboratories are once more operating night and day, and 375,000 jars are now being produced every 24 hours.—Adv.

Three-Story Columbus Building Collapses

Passing Theater Crowds Narrowly Escape Death, Automobile is Buried and Two Streets Blocked; $30,000 Damage.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 11.—Police today stood guard over the ruins of a three-story brick building in the downtown section here which collapsed last night.

Passing theater crowds narrowly escaped death or serious injury when the structure toppled.

An automobile was buried. The owner of the car had parked it but a few minutes before.

Several high voltage wires were brought to the ground when the walls gave way.

Two streets were blocked by the mass of debris.

The building was undergoing remodeling and had been resting on huge jacks. This is thought to have caused the collapse.

Damage, it is estimated, will not exceed $30,000.

The Man in the Moon

By Madge Geyer

To every girl in love, the man in the moon is a perfect picture of her adored one. Whenever she gazes at Mr. Man-in-the-Moon she sees the dear features of her very own beloved and therefore, she gazes long and soulfully at his picture, suspended in the sky for all to see.

Ah, if she could but reach him and take his dear face between her hands and give him the kiss which is ever trembling on her lips for him alone. Even though he has left her but a short hour before, it seems ages and ages ago—and longer still to wait until tomorrow. So she watches the moon and plays her "pretended" game and kisses her beloved "good night." And that's why they call the moon the friend of all lovers.

Fritz Henry, who is now in Florida, is owner of the building. It had been occupied by the Ort Brothers' printing establishment.

Tunnel Through Cascades A Miracle of Science

8-mile Bore, Longest in U. S., to Open on January 12.

SEATTLE, Wash.—Drilled as if by a giant's auger, the Great Northern railway's eight-mile bore through the Cascade mountains east of here will be formally opened for train operation on Jan. 12.

Simultaneously the road's entire mountain division—a stretch of steel ribbon totaling more than 75 miles—will be metamorphosed from a steam unit into one operated solely by electricity.

Thus is Science victorious in one of the most pretentious engineering projects on the American continent. The tunnel alone cost roughly $14,000,000, but electrification and other improvements brought the total to the staggering figure of $25,000,000. The new Cascade tunnel lifts the record in the United States from the Moffett bore in Colorado, 6.11 miles long, and is exceeded by only four other tunnels—the Simpson, St. Gothard, Loetschberg and Mount Cenis tunnels in the Alps.

The electric locomotives for hauling trains over this 75-mile stretch of mountain roadway are the most powerful of their type. They are also unique, according to engineers of the General Electric company in that they will utilize the advantages of both alternating and direct current. Another feature is their regenerative braking. On the down-grade the motors act as generators and "regenerate" from 30 to 35 per cent. of the power required to move them on the upgrade. This current is fed back through the trolley poles into the power lines, which adds other trains moving along the electrified route.

Opening of America's longest tunnel will be broadcast over the radio with all of the pomp and ceremony of a championship prizefight, while notables from both here and abroad

Ranks of Southern War Veterans Being Thinned By Death

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The ranks of the Alabama heroes of the "lost Cause" are diminishing.

During the year of 1928, 116 Confederate veterans were removed from the state pension roll by death, according to statistics made public here. As a result, pension payments decreased $69,375.

The total number of veterans of the war between the states to be listed on the state pension list for January, 1929, will be 1,647, the statistics revealed.

Edgar Wallace, the writer of thrillers, recently acted as foreman of the grand jury at London.

STATE HINTS LIFE SENTENCE FOR BOY IN 'WITCH' MURDER

York, Pa., Prosecutor
Asks First Degree
Verdict.

MOTHER IN TEARS

John Curry, 14, Listens
Calmly to Closing
Address.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN.
COURT HOUSE, York, Pa., Jan. 11.—The case of John Curry, 14, charged with the murder of Nelson D. Rehnauer, aged "prowler" doctor, went to the jury at 10:45 o'clock this morning.

The judge, in his instructions, told the jury that he could not see from the evidence adduced how it could return a verdict of manslaughter. The boy would, under a manslaughter conviction, serve only from one to ten years.

Justice moved swiftly. The jury had hardly retired to deliberate the fate of Curry when the third defendant, Wilbert G. Hess, 18, was brought to trial.

Hess Trial Under Way.
Selection of the Hess jury was begun at 11 a. m. Hess, a tall, rawky youth, seemed scared. He glanced furtively around the court room and was very nervous.

COURTHOUSE, Pa., Jan. 11.—While the 14-year-old defendant, John Curry, sat calmly listening in the prisoner's dock, District Attorney Amos W. Herrmann, in his closing address to the jury today asked that a verdict of murder in the first degree be returned against Curry for his part in the "witch" slaying of Nelson D. Rehnauer.

"Whether you give him life imprisonment is at your discretion, the district attorney told the jurors. "I only want to be fair. But you must remember that even though he is a boy he is as accountable under the law as you or I."

Tears coursed down the cheeks of the boy's mother, Mrs. Alice Curry McLane, as she listened to the booming voice calling for the punishment of her son.

FOG, RAIN HALT BLIMP FLIGHT

Los Angeles Returns to Port St. Joseph
Bay.

KEY WEST, Fla., Jan. 11.—The dirigible Los Angeles, which took off late yesterday from Port St. Joseph Bay, Fla., to continue its journey from Lakehurst, N. J., to Miami, returned to that place at 4:25 o'clock this morning after cruising over several west Florida cities and towns.

This was announced today at the headquarters of the seventh naval district here, which is in touch with the Los Angeles.

Developments in the weather map, and continued fog and rain on the west Florida coast caused Commander Rosendahl to consider it advisable to postpone his visit to Miami and other east coast cities, and to return to Port St. Joseph where the Los Angeles was moored to the U. S. S. Patoka.

Trust Fund for Mother.
"In the event my mother, Mrs. Lou J. Adams shall be living at the time of my death, I give and bequeath to my trustee hereinafter named such sum as in the judgment of my executor hereinafter named, will yield a sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000) a year.

"Upon her death my said trustee shall in the event my daughter, Maxine Texas Rickard, be then living, transfer, convey and pay over the principal and corpus of said trust fund for the benefit of my daughter.

The will also leaves a trust fund to bring $2,400 a year for his mother-in-law, Mrs. Flora Haig. This fund also goes to his daughter in the event of Mrs. Haig's death.

Edith May Schultz is bequeathed $25,000 in trust. When she reaches the age of 21 or becomes married the trust fund is to be paid over to her. The will makes no mention of who this beneficiary is.

ST. CLAIR FIRE SENDS WOMAN TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Jeanette Talbott is Suffering From Pneumonia.

EXPOSURE BLAMED

Forced Into Near Zero
Weather as Home Burned.

As the result of exposure Monday night when she was driven from her home by fire which swept a section of the St. Clair avenue business district, Mrs. Jeanette Talbott was removed to the City hospital today, stricken with pneumonia.

Mrs. Talbott and her children occupied the second floor quarters of the duplex house owned by Mrs. O. D. Nice, which was badly damaged by the fire. Although the weather registered near the zero mark Mrs. Talbott, ill from an attack of the grippe, was forced to flee to the home of neighbors as the flames threatened to reach her house.

Fire Chief Thomas Bryan, who sustained an injury to his back and scalp lacerations when he fell in St. Clair avenue, and Jerry Cunningham, volunteer fireman, whose back was injured when he fell down a flight of steps while manning a line of hose, have been discharged from the hospital. Mayor Wallace Fogo, who fell over a line of hose while directing Wellsville firemen, fracturing his right leg, will not be able to leave the hospital for at least eight weeks.

DOLLAR LINER GOES AGROUND

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 11.—Advances received at the headquarters of the Dollar steamship company here today stated that their liner President Adams had grounded near Christobal, Panama. No details were given.

The President Adams was enroute from New York to San Francisco, having sailed from the eastern port January 3.

A message received by the marine department of the chamber of commerce stated three tugs were endeavoring to pull the liner off the reef on which she grounded.

The seriousness of the vessel's plight was not indicated in first advices.

In view of the fact, however, that the tugs were endeavoring to pull the vessel off the reef, it was not believed here that her passengers were regarded as in danger.

84 NEXT MONTH

President-elect and Visitor
Discuss Appointments.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—After nearly a week of constant conferences with politicians, weighing their claims and hearing their recommendations, Herbert Hoover found surcease today in a long talk with one prominent party figure who, he is quite confident, wants no appointment and no political preferment after March 4—the Republican party.

The aged leader—he will be 84 next month—emerged from his semi-retirement and came to Washington at the express invitation of the president-elect. Mr. Hoover, it was said, wanted to have "a general consultation" with Mr. Root, and they had it over the Hoover breakfast table in S street.

Particularly, it was said, Mr. Hoover wanted to obtain the detached viewpoint of Mr. Root upon a variety of matters that will affect his administration after March 4. They discussed cabinet appointments, Latin-American affairs, and world politics in general. They discussed them at such length that the president-elect was late getting to his hotel for the daily round of political interviews.

COOLIDGE HEARS GERMAN PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The German reparations problem was discussed at a White House conference today between President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg and Owen D. Young, of New York.

Mr. Coolidge and Young were in conference for nearly an hour, with Secretary Kellogg participating part of the time. Afterwards Kellogg and Young renewed their discussions at the state department.

While the White House conference was in progress, Parker Gilbert, agent, general for reparations, was summoned but arrived at the mansion after the discussions had adjourned. He did not see the president.

AWAIT CANTON DEATH COUNTS

Jurors Report Today in Heldman and Oser
Tragedies.

CANTON, O., Jan. 11.—The Stark county grand jury was expected to report late today on the charges against Wilbur O. Heldman, 27, accused of "influencing" the death of his wife, and "Eddie" Kaltenbach, 21, confessed slayer of Mr. and Mrs. John Oser.

Witnesses were still being questioned in the Heldman case today. About 40 witnesses were summoned by the state, including 10 from Lorain where the Heldmans formerly lived.

Heldman's 21-year-old wife, Margaret, was shot to death the night of Dec. 12 as he was bringing her from Lorain to Canton to deliver her to the sheriff. She had confessed to him, he says, that she was the "phantom murderer" who shot Bernard Fearn at the door of his home in the village of Waco, just a week before.

An incident between Mrs. Heldman and Fearn, before her marriage, was the motive, according to the reported confession. The young husband admits that he hated his wife during their automobile trip from Lorain. As they came into Canton she shot herself, she says, and the state charges he was "morally responsible."

Salvation Army Chief
Formally Asked
To Retire.

WILL ACT MONDAY

High Council Urges Resignation Because of Illness.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Formal demand that he retire as supreme head of the Salvation Army was made personally upon General Bramwell Booth by a high council deputation at General Booth's home in Southwold, this afternoon.

General Booth's decision was postponed until Monday.

The deputation of seven members, bearing a letter containing the resolution adopted by the high council at Sunbury-on-Thames, went to Southwold by motor car and presented the document to the 72-year-old general.

Asks for Time to Reply.
This resolution suggested that the general retire because of the long illness from which he has suffered.

The deputation left General Booth's Southwold home at 2:15 p. m. The general had asked for time to consider his position before making reply.

Although not a member of the deputation, Commander Evangeline Booth head of the American branch of the Salvation Army, went to Southwold but did not succeed in seeing General Booth.

Sister Explains Visit.
In a statement to International News Service, Commander Booth, who is a sister of the general, explained her visit:

"I came to the house for the purpose of seeing Mrs. Booth and Catherine (daughter of the general) to talk things over. I hoped to be allowed a little peep at my brother, but it was impossible. I thought perhaps I could offer a little comfort and advice."

Commander Booth remained in another room while the deputation interviewed General Booth.

Wanamaker Early Relics Put On Sale In New York City

NEW YORK.—The entire collection of early American, Napoleonic and French revolutionary relics acquired by the late Rodman Wanamaker have been placed on sale here.

The objects range from battle flags and drums carried by the Napoleonic armies to prints and faded manuscripts of the times.

Among the collection is a three page age-dimmed letter written by Martha Washington to Mrs. F. Washington and dated April 21, 1793. The pages are devoted to everyday home affairs and closes with an expression of regard in which "the President joins."

Letters also are found from Joseph Trumbull, member of continental congress, to one of his military contemporaries. Among the rare items are the articles of agreement for the outfitting and commissioning of the ship Revolution for "a cruise of four months against the enemies of America."

SUCCESSFUL METHODS FOR COMBATting FLU AND COLDS

Follow These Rules — Do Not Fool With a Cold — Use Tried Safe Methods

Look out for colds—even mild colds in the head and throat. Don't let them get down into the chest and lungs. Don't expose yourself to damp or wet weather.

Don't go out if you are feeling sick. Influenza, grippe, pneumonia or other serious sickness often come from colds.

THE DANGER. Cold, "Flu" and Pneumonia germs multiply by the millions and attack the weak and the strong alike. Watch out for colds, they weaken your resistance. The greatest danger lies in that "simple cold." Kill that cold quickly. It is of vast importance to clean out the entire intestinal tract, upper and lower bowels regularly. Keep the kidneys well flushed and freshen and strengthen the blood.

Experience of 1918. The experience of the 1918 epidemic showed that one of the best and simplest treatments was to take a steaming hot cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea. Why take any chances, why not be prepared to fight off your cold or "flu"?

The right thing to do now is to go to your druggist, get a box of Bulgarian Herb Tea. Kill off your cold. Take it steaming hot twice a week. It will heat up the chilled blood, increase the circulation and rid the bowels and intestines of poisons and germs. Every family will find Bulgarian Herb Tea (purely vegetable) a real blessing to have on hand in this time of need. Keep your system clean all winter.

See your druggist at once. Your health—perhaps your very life—may depend upon taking this simple precaution. Costs but a few cents.

If you have had the flu or a bad cold already, watch out for a recurrence. A cupful of Tea twice a week is your protection against attacks.—Adv.

CONCERT PIANIST TO APPEAR HERE

Charles Naegele, concert pianist, assisted by Miss Gladys Swarthout, mezzo soprano, will appear in a program which will be offered at the high school auditorium, Tuesday night, Jan. 22, under the auspices of the Civic Music association. This will be the second of the association's series of concerts for the 1928-29 season.

many of them. With the Boston Symphony he was "given a great ovation," to quote the Boston Transcript; with the New York Symphony, Walter Damrosch conducting, "Mr. Naegele played the concerto like a veteran and put into this interesting selection all of the beauty and power that Grieg wrote into it," commented the Rochester Times-Union; while equally flattering notices have followed Mr. Naegele's appearances with the Detroit Symphony, the Toronto Symphony, the American Orchestral Society, the Chicago Symphony and others.

Will Appear in New York.

Among his orchestral engagements for this season is an appearance as soloist with the Detroit Symphony. Naegele will also have several New York, Chicago and Boston appearances, and he will play in many of the large musical centers of the country.

This young musician, whom Walter Damrosch has called "one of the most distinguished of the younger pianists," again played in the distinctive summer series that is given annually at Stillington Hall, Gloucester, Mass., where he has been a favorite artist on other occasions. Early on his tour he will play at Vassar College, and then swing through the New England States, south, into the middle west, ending with many Pacific coast engagements.

Miss Swarthout in Opera.

During her first season with the Chicago Civic Opera company, Miss Swarthout appeared in Chicago and on tour with the company singing the roles of Siebel, in "Faust," Stephano, in "Romeo and Juliet," Musetta, in "La Boheme," Feodor, in "Boris Godunoff," The Shepherd Boy, in "Tannhauser," Carhyle, in "Thais," Rose, in "Mefistofele," Shepherd Boy, in "Tosca," and Concetta, in "Jewels of the Madonna."

Miss Swarthout has been a valued member of the Ravinia Opera company for three successive seasons, singing with success the roles of Hansel in "Hansel and Gretel," Nancy in "Martha," Mercedes in "Carmen," Carmen in "Carmen," Albine in "Thais," Lola in "Cavalleria Rusticana," Bersi in "Andre Chénier," Siebel in "Faust," Musetta in "La Boheme," Rosette in "Manon," Stephano in "Romeo and Juliet," Vision in "Tales of Hoffman," and Julietta in "Tales of Hoffman."

Honor Mrs. John Van Swearingen, Jr. A surprise farewell party was held last night at the home of Mrs. John Van Swearingen, Jr., Indiana avenue, Chester, by a group of friends in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Van Swearingen and son, John III, who will sail on the S. S. Manturia from New York for South America on Jan. 18.

Five tables of bridge were in play, trophies being awarded Mesdames Wilmont Pipes, A. H. Mackall and Lester McMath.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames J. DeMar Miller, Charles A. Hartt and J. Paul Gregg, and Misses Verna and Gertrude Horrihan.

Mrs. Anna Kinsely of Chicago was a guest.

SUFFERINGS OF 7 YEARS ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Stomach Disordered, Rheumatic Pains a Torture
Complete Recovery Comes Through Master Medicine.

MRS. OLDAG.

No matter how long the sufferings; no matter what medicines and treatments have failed; no matter if hope of relief has almost vanished, those who suffer may take heart when they hear the undisputed proofs of the amazing powers and merits of Konjola, the new medicine. Let the case of Mrs. Oldag, 237 Winckles street, Elyria, Ohio, be a hint at the marvelous results in new and glorious health that Konjola brings to stay. Mrs. Oldag writes:

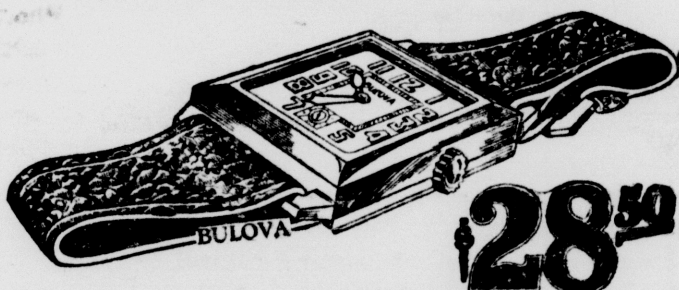

"For seven years my health was badly rundown because my stomach was completely disordered by the strong medicines I took for rheumatism. My food did not digest; gas formed and bloating followed. The nights were sleepless, and I grew constantly worse. So did the rheumatism, swelling in my ankles increased and the pains went down into my limbs. It seemed that I was doomed to a life of misery. While my hopes were lowest, I began to read and hear so much about the wonders of Konjola that I decided to try this new medicine. What a wonderful surprise awaited me. In two weeks all of my health troubles were but memories. I have a fine appetite, my digestion is perfect, the rheumatic pains have faded away, and every morning I awake with a feeling of new life."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, O., at Carnahan drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Would Drift With Ice Pack Over World Top

Captain Bob Bartlett, Arctic explorer, looking over model of "saucer shaped" craft in which he would drift for four years in the ice pack.

Dream of Man Who Took Peary on Dash To Pole.

NEW YORK.—"A man would have to know his ice," said Captain Bob Bartlett.

The commander of the ship which carried Peary on his dash to the Pole was outlining to reporters a long cherished plan for the most valuable piece of exploration that remains to be done in this rather well-discovered world. His tanned, lined face lighted up; his stubby sailor's fingers were eloquent in illustration of his plan.

Saucer-Shaped Ship Needed.

"Get a ship shaped like a saucer especially built for the task, power her with Diesel engines," he said, "then take her up to the Polar basin and just before reaching there, let off most of the crew, at some point like Nome."

"Keep aboard eight men—young tenderfoot, enthusiastic as all get out. Get the vessel into the ice which is floating around the Pole and let her freeze in. Then stay there, drifting with the ice, for three or four years." The drift would take the boat finally over the top of the world and into the Atlantic on the other side of the North American continent. In the meantime the eight enthusiasts on board under Captain Bob would have studied meteorological conditions, magnetic currents and various other scientific aspects of the Polar region.

Would Watch Storms Start.

They would watch storms start in the wintery Northland, would radio the Weather Bureau both in the United States and elsewhere in time for these to be charted accurately. Thus, instead of studying atmospheric disturbances after they have ended, the men on the drift ship would "catch 'em young" and impressible.

Then there's the secret of the aurora! That's another thing the hardy eight—nine, counting Captain Bob—would seek to answer. Other work which would occupy their leisure would be plotting the depths of the polar basin, charting its currents and taking its temperature at all seasons.

MOTHER GIVEN MARION OFFICE

Mrs. Cora M. McKeever Named County Recorder.

MARION, O., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Cora M. McKeever today had been named recorder of Marion county by the board of county commissioners. Her appointment followed the vacating of the office by Judge George B. Scofield.

Charles E. Smith, 25, former recorder, disappeared last April 29 and has not been heard of since. Smith was serving his second term and state examiners revealed a shortage of more than $2,500 in his accounts. A petition bearing 1,000 names was presented to the common pleas court asking that Smith be officially ousted and the office declared vacant.

Smith was a Democrat, whereas Mrs. McKeever has been prominently identified with Republican activities here. She is the mother of two children.

Births in England and Wales during 1927 numbered 654,172, giving a birth rate of 16.6, the lowest on record.

Britannica to Quote Ford, Tunney, Smith

Dr. Russell Cecil, of Cornell University Medical College, Authority on Pneumonia and Flu, Warns Against Tobacco Smoke.

NEW YORK.—The outstanding personalities of our age who will take their places in civilization's Hall of Fame have contributed their specialized thought to the new Encyclopaedia Britannica which will be published in a written form about October, 1929.

Extracts from these latest writings of world-famous personages have been obtained exclusively today by International News Service the most interesting of which are hereby presented.

Henry Ford, automobile genius, furnishes an article on how great industrial empires are being constructed through mass production.

Gene Tunney, retired world's heavyweight champion, describes the various styles of boxing and the qualifications necessary for a successful boxer.

Writes on Boxing.

He pictures the evolution of boxing from the days of 70-round prize fights to the 15-round classics of today, telling of the changes in technique made necessary.

Governor Al Smith writes of the history of New York, Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, discusses prohibition, Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt writes of the work of the Department of Justice, Commander Richard Byrd on aviation, Colonel E. M. House on the historic conference in Paris after the war, former Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes on the Monroe Doctrine, George Bernard Shaw on Socialism, Helen Wills on tennis.

The contribution by Dr. Russell Cecil, of Cornell, authority on pneumonia, influenza, and other bronchial diseases, is especially enlightening in view of the present precarious condition of King George of England from bronchial infection and in view of the current country-wide epidemic of influenza.

Dr. Cecil recommends that the best treatment for a common cold is rest in bed.

"Tobacco smoke, cold, damp air, and other irritants must not be allowed to enter the respiratory tract," Dr. Cecil advises.

Mass Production.

In discussing mass production, Henry Ford declares that it is "the focusing upon a manufacturing project of the principles of power, accuracy, economy, system, continuity and speed."

"The normal result is a productive organization that delivers in quantities a useful commodity of standard material, workmanship and design at minimum cost," he asserts.

"Whether the modern corporation is the destruction or salvation of arts and crafts, whether it narrows or broadens opportunity, whether it assists or retards the personal development of the worker, must be determined by observable facts."

In answer to certain criticisms that have been made, of the effects of mass production on society, Ford says:

"The increasing supply of human needs and the development of new standards of living are the elements to be estimated. The enlargement of leisure, the increase of human contacts, the extension of individual range, all the result of mass production in various fields."

Serge Voronoff, famous for his monkey gland experiments, in discussing rejuvenation declares that "death is not the inevitable end of cellular vitality but is in every case the result of unfavorable conditions to which the cells are subjected at a given moment."

Voronoff Views.

"So long as an organism, however old, continues to exist, its cells continue to be renewed and rejuvenated," Voronoff says. "Unfortunately, in old age this process of rejuvenation is slowed down, a certain number of the functional cells regress and are replaced by connective tissue. The cells which escape this are renewed more slowly but continue to be renewed to the extreme limit of their vitality."

The tendency to simplify feminine costume is due especially to the influence of sports, according to Roman de Tiroff-Erte, French authority. Sports also account for the imitation of masculine dress by women, he says. "Trousers appeared in sports costumes," says Tiroff-Erte. "Smocks with short skirts attempted to take the place of evening dresses. In 1925 all women were seen with small felt hats differing but slightly from those worn by men. Traces of this masculine influence will remain in feminine costume is due especially to the influence of the two articles from man's wardrobe, viz: the sweater and the pyjama."

Tiroff-Erte declares that a reaction from present stabilization of fashion is already under way. He predicts longer skirts and the disappearance of the boyish headdress of cut hair.

The Cuban Government is aiding in the cultivation of rice on the island.

NEVADA CITY 'LAND CRAZY' AS DAM BOOM HITS

Boulder Project Boosts
Las Vegas Property
Prices.

ANNEXES MAPPED

Many Tracts Located
Far Out in Desert.

LAS VEGAS, Nevada.—Las Vegas, little city of big city dreams, has gone "land crazy" as it awaits the actual beginning of construction on the Boulder dam project.

Prices of property have sky-rocketed due to anticipated growth and development, and the center of activity at present is in real estate.

The last two years has seen high pressure realty promoters from Los Angeles and elsewhere appearing here and buying up land.

Many of the tracts thus acquired is "wildcat" land, located far out in the desert sands, miles from the city and the dam site.

Purchased Cheaply.
Purchased very cheaply, much of it has been mapped into subdivisions now called "Annexes," "Additions" and whatnot, and is being sold to glib investors in other states. Land has been staked out far into the sand dunes. Salesmen, glib of tongue, enthusiastically proclaim these lots potential gold mines.

In California, the state real estate commissioner put a stop to the sale by unscrupulous promoters of "Boulder dam" lots which, because of their location, will probably never be benefited by the project.

These lots, practically worthless for development were sold "off the map" without the purchasers—or even the real estate salesmen for that matter—ever seeing them.

"Why when I saw what I had been

Saved by Knife

Caesarian operation performed upon Mrs. Fannie Moss in Jewish Hospital, New York, not only saved lives of herself and her little daughter, but it also restored the mother's sight. Mrs. Moss, shown above with baby Helen Joan, had been blind for weeks before the operation.

(International Newsreel)

selling, I blushed in shame," admitted one salesman, who came here from Oakland, Calif., to be on the ground, looking for new prospects after the state ban had hit his firm's activities there.

But not all land in the Las Vegas area is "wildcat." Thousands of acres are open to development as the town grows, right now most of it is highly speculative.

Bring Good Prices.

There are reputable real estate men here, who control desert land close in to the city. They are selling undeveloped land without piped water or sewage facilities, at $10 a front foot on the outskirts of Las Vegas.

They tell of similar property that two years ago sold at $50 to $70 an acre now bringing $250 to $400.

Inside the limits of the city, which runs five miles east and west and three miles north and south, and contains 144 square miles, lots are $20 a foot and up.

In the business district, one corner lot with a 100 foot frontage on Fremont street, the main thoroughfare, is marked up at $30,000.

"Dirt cheap," says the owner. Real estate operators contend that land values are not inflated at present, and that there has been no appreciable difference in prices in the last few months. They say that present prices are justified by the Boulder dam boom conditions. Some even claim property is too low.

Ed Clark, president of the first state bank in which the Union Pacific railroad, is the largest stockholder, tells you otherwise.

Values Too High.

"Land values are away to high—they're exorbitant," he declared. "There's nothing here now to warrant such prices as are being asked."

"Of course if some one comes along and buys a piece of property for $30,000 and puts up a first class commercial hotel, which is badly needed, and makes money, then that land is worth the price, but values today are normal in my opinion."

Clark, born and raised in the desert close by has spent his entire life here and has been closely associated with the growth of the town which for the last seven years has set back and hesitated in the sun waiting for the dam project to materialize.

Practically every individual property owner in Las Vegas is in the real estate business in a small way. While the rest of the country has indulged in wild speculation, the people here are too far removed from the ticker and its "Bite tape. Their money—life's savings in most instances—has gone into real estate with the hope of "cleaning up" with the boom. Many are described as "land speculators" but in Boulder dam they see a great get-rich-quick opportunity.

New Cook County Court Building Ready This Month

CHICAGO.—The new Cook County, Chicago, $7,500,000 criminal courts building and jail will be ready for occupancy this month. It was announced by President Anton Cermak of the county board.

The jail units have been praised highly by penologists for their modern features which include unbreakable glass through which prisoners may speak with visitors; central control cell locks and direct connections with court rooms, precluding possibility of escape.

Potters Face Two Big Hurdles In Salem And Akron Contests

Tackle Old Foes Tonight

Christen Auditorium
Cage Tomorrow Night.

IF COACH JOE HURST'S high school passers get over the two week-end hurdles with Salem and Akron East, the Potters can sail into the rest of the schedule with confidence.

Returning to active competition as they do after a three-week loaf, the locals are facing a stiff proposition, especially with such squads as Salem, always a tough opponent, and Akron East, not so easy either.

The Blue and White squads go to Salem tonight. Tomorrow night they entertain the Akronites here. The game will open their campaign on the new public auditorium court in Second street, prefaced by a preliminary between the Reserves and the Chester team.

Salem Expects Stiff Tussle.

SALEM, O., Jan. 11.—They are saying now that Salem High basketballers have shown real power, that it will take a mighty tough aggregation to stop them. Two high school outfits rated as extra strong are billed to face the Red and Black this week. Whether the dazzling display of extraordinary basketball was only temporary, or if Coach Floyd Stone has finally located a combination that will display this brand of ball consistently will be more easily determined after the two stiff contests billed for Friday and Saturday are over.

The big games of this week's schedule, are the games with East Liverpool. The Ceramic City combine has been in the past three years been the only team in the county circuit to gain a decision over the Red and Black, and with Salem as defendant of its third county title, this game is rated as the most crucial to date.

Three Games Saturday.

All three Salem teams will get into action against the tough Liverpool basketballers. The Red and Black reserves play the opening game, probably starting at 6:45 with the girls and boys completing the evening's bill.

Chester Five, St. Stephens Are Winners

Open With Victories in Sunday School Loop.

Sunday school basketball league campaign opened with a pair of encounters last night on the M. P. church court. Chester Christian church five nosed out the M. P. quint, 26 to 23, and St. Stephens won from the Newell Methodists, 20 to 23.

Angus and Simcox led the scoring in the first tilt. Snape and Mullen kept the St. Stephens five in front. Mosser and Flannigan were the chief performers for the Newell squad.

M'LARNIN FACES TURNING POINT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—"Baby Face" Jimmy McLarnin comes back to Madison Square Garden tonight in the greatest test of his career. He faces Joe (Click) the Brooklyn "old clothes man," in a ten-round bout.

To Jimmy, victory means the regaining of his former position among lightweights. Tonight's bout also gives him a chance to prove that his knockout at the hands of Ray Miller was a fluke. Defeat means he passes out of the headlines and must begin anew.

The winner may be matched with Champion Sammy Mandell.

Findlay Defeats Defiance.
FINDLAY, O., Jan. 11.—In a game filled with thrills, Findlay college won, 36 to 32, from Defiance on its home floor here last night. It was the first conference game for both teams. They are members of the Northwest conference. Defiance made a rally in the last few minutes of play which nearly tied the score.

PUG PRACTICED ON KID BROTHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Victor Whitree, 23, a "prelim" fighter known in the prize ring as "Sonny" Smith, practiced for his professional engagements by making a punching bag of Anthony, his 14-year-old brother, according to allegations made by the latter. Suffering from black eyes, smashed teeth and internal injuries, Anthony is in a critical condition at a hospital. The elder brother, held without bail, denied the charges.

Cokes Defeat Open Hearth; Finishers Win

Wyant and Shaheen Big Scorers in Midland Games.

MIDLAND, Pa., Jan. 11.—Coke-Bloomer mill quint defeated the Open Hearth, 28 to 25, and the Finishers stopped the Service quint, 30-27 in last night's Crucible Steel inter-departmental league games.

Wyant and Shaheen were the big guns from the offensive standpoint. Next Thursday's games bring together Service and Open Hearth; Coke plant and Finishers.

Leading field goal makers to date, in eight games: Reese, 20; Wyant, 16; Shaheen, 15; Slater, 12; Ankrin, 11; Black, 10; Benedict, 10.

Golden Leads His "Y" Quint To First Win

Defeats "Chuck" Kidd's Five, 52-20, in Fast Tilt.

Don Golden's Packards registered their first Y. M. C. A. league victory last night in a 52 to 20 triumph over the Cadillacs.

The game was fast throughout, with the Packards pelting the hoops for points consistently after the opening period.

The Packards led by a 6-5 count at the end of the inaugural canto but stretched their lead at the half and had the game easily in hand before the second half was very old.

Edwards and Massey were the scoring stars. Cooper, Laughlin and Kidd were the leading performers for the losers.

BOBCATS CLAW PIONEERS, 37-24

ATHENS, O., Jan. 11.—Ohio university Bobcats gave the Pioneers from Marietta a severe trouncing here last night, thus successfully completing preparations for the Buckeye Athletic association basketball race. The green and white rained the lead early and held it throughout. Marietta never threatened very closely, and the game ended 37 to 24.

Williams, Ohio guard, was the high point man of the game, getting eight buckets and a foul. Trotter started forward for the visitors with 11 points.

Rio Grande Wins Easily.

RIO GRANDE, O., Jan. 11.—Rio Grande college took an easy victory from Cedarville college in a basketball game here last night 30 to 17. The home team was never in danger.

American films shown in Paris last season numbered more than twice those of French production.

Ceramics Planning Opener

Clash With Strong Pittsburgh Quint Next Wednesday.

LED by the wily Nate Lippe, Pennsylvania basketballers who won his way into the favor of Pottery City basketball followers here last year and the year before, the East Liverpool basketball club, a recently formed organization, will launch its campaign next Wednesday night on the new public auditorium court with the Knickerbockers of Pittsburgh.

Announcement of the booking was made today by O. E. Greenawalt, club manager.

The local aggregation, made of the strongest talent available, will be coached by William Watkins, noted Tri-State official, a former player and East Liverpool high school mentor.

Squad will be built around Percy Wyant, of Franklin and Marshall, Fifth Smith, of Western Reserve, Joe Canine, local "handic" star, and Paul English, of Glenville Normal.

In addition to this quartet, Greenawalt has already signed Nate Lippe and plans, in addition, to have a good center and a well known guard out of Pittsburgh for the opening engagement.

The Knickerbockers have been strong Tri-State amateur tournament contenders here the last two years. Last season they won the West Penn league title and are assured of a crack at the crown again by virtue of their conquest already in the first half of the present season.

Newell Squads Split Pair at County Seat

Sage is Star as Lorah's Five Wins by 20-19 Count.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va., Jan. 11.—Newell and New Cumberland high school basketball teams divided a double bill on the local court last night, the visiting boys' quint rising out a 20-19 win while the local girls took down honors in the preliminary, 24 to 23.

The main event was a thriller all the way and especially in the last two minutes of play when the Newell combin., six points in the rear, came from behind with a sensational burst of speed and marksmanship to wipe out the difference and sock in an extra counter to win. Sage, the big Newell center, bucketed the leather three times for two pointers and once from the free line in those last two minutes.

Ohio College Marksmen in Drive on Nets

Three Conferences in Action Throughout State.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 11.—Ohio college floor teams will be busy tonight with the second championship game in the Buckeye Athletic association, the second of the Northwestern conference season, four Ohio conference games, and another of the miscellaneous sort, on the card for a full evening.

Wittenberg, which defeated Cincinnati's championship team in the first game of the season last week, will play host to Denison at Springfield. Denison has been unsuccessful so far this year, but has hopes for victory tonight.

In the northwest, Bluffton meets Toledo university's rockets on the latter's floor. The other three members of the "Little Big Five" have the evening off. Bowling Green will open its season tomorrow night in a tangle with Kent for the normal school supremacy.

The Ohio conference games on the program include Kenyon at Muskingum, Mt. Union at Akron, Ohio Northern and Western Reserve at Cleveland, and Otterbein at Heidelberg.

The "Student Princes" of Heidelberg are rather cocky after their win over Wittenberg, but they will not have as stiff opposition in Otterbein. The other games are more of a guess than anything else, so fans will wait to see what the first round of Buckeye slugging brings in after tonight.

Policy of Strict Conservatism Seen as New Hands Take Helm at Madison Square Garden

Course of Action on Proposed Sharkey-Stribling Battle Awaited by Boxing World.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Officials of the Madison Square Garden corporation, wishing to do the right thing by "dear old Tex," undoubtedly will look long and earnestly through Rickard's private papers for "documentary evidence" of his Stribling-Sharkey guarantees and then, having turned up none, they will render the Stein song from Ignatz the Ice man, entitled: "Hurrah! We Can Find Nothing."

It will be a fine, brave thing to do. They will be crushed, desolated. But these are men who know how to suffer secretly. With great self-control, they will be able to mask their true feelings under a smiling exterior and, if the smile I'm talking about happens to be a laugh, you will know that the man in question is practicing self-control in a big way.

It all probably means that there will be no $100,000 guarantee for Jack Sharkey, if ever there was such, which probably means that there will be no Jack Sharkey, which possibly means that there will be no fight. Col. Hammond and William F. Carey have declared for standing behind any "documentary" obligation incurred by an officer of the corporation but, if they aren't convinced that none exists, then they must have been talking about the high cost of sleeve garters when they called Sharkey in on the rug the day of the funeral.

Carey Opposed to Big Purses.
The situation narrows itself down to a question of how soon a new policy of strict conservatism may be instituted at the Garden. The instituting in question can start somewhat sooner than immediately without being premature, as far as many of these men are concerned, and if Rickard has done nothing to obligate them, that will be one of life's misfortunes under which they will contrive to bear up bravely. They let Rickard run wide open with his gambling tendencies in promotion because that was "in character" and part of the script. But he couldn't make all of them like it.

One of them who didn't and never was abashed about saying so was Mr.

al. He seemed to think in fact, that this was not the kind of thing that ought to be encouraged.

May Be No Fight at All.
Unless I have been misinformed, this gentleman is the active though silent head of the Garden corporation right at this moment and, unless I mistake his intentions, there will be no guarantee at all for the Sharkey-Stribling fight, which ought to mean that there will be no fight.

As for Dempsey's innocuous statement, it was the only thing to do under the circumstances, since it is understood that he has no great wish to fight under the present auspices at the Garden and there seems to be nobody else that appeals to him.

Another good reason for the indefinite character of his announcement is that the man doesn't know his own mind from one minute to another and the thing he says today simply doesn't go tomorrow. There being no necessity for haste, therefore, the entire matter can be pushed ahead until such time as a show down is indicated.

HAGEN FAVORITE AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 11.—Play in the fourth annual $10,000 Los Angeles open tournament officially opened today on the picturesque Riviera Country club course.

It was an ideal day for championship golf as the early starters of the field of 130 entrants began the first 15 holes of the tedious 72-hole grind, which will be concluded late Sunday.

Walter Hagen, long considered the peer of all professional golfers, remained a heavy favorite to seek the title, now held by Macdonald Smith, veteran New York instructor, who won the local championship last year at Wilshire.

Horton Smith, "the Joplin kid," is a dark horse.

TEX RICKARD STAGES HIS LAST SHOW

Bronze casket containing body of Tex Rickard as it arrived in New York, which "Tex" called his home in recent years and where he had won world-wide fame as a boxing promoter before his death in Miami. The casket, covered by a blanket of roses and carnations, was taken from the station to his own Madison Square Garden. Picture rushed to Midwest by wire.

ANNIE LAURIE'S
TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl going on sixteen years of age, and my problem is this: Should a mother read and read her daughter's letters? There is not anything in these letters I would not want my mother to see; but I believe that the "thrill" of reading the letters is in deciphering them yourself.

Please give me your opinion.

A READER.

A READER: The only thing I can suggest, my dear, is this. Perhaps at some time or other you have given your mother cause to doubt you, and that is why she reads your letters. If you can establish your mother's perfect confidence in you, I am sure that she will then allow you to receive unopened, your letters.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a married man in my twenties, and my wife does not live with me.

When we were married everything went fine for a couple of months and then she would not live or stay with me any more, but would go back home and live.

I had all my furniture bought and everything set up comfortable, but she was not satisfied at all. But now she has a little girl she wants to come back and live with me.

Please give me your advice what to do—go back with her or leave her go and forget about her?

TURNED DOWN.

Now that you have a family, it is your place to care for them. By all means, make a home for your wife, and for the sake of the little girl try to make a go of it. And good luck to you all.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and wish your advice.

Five weeks ago my father drove me from home and three weeks ago I married a fellow I had been keeping company with for two years. Things went along fine till last week when he came home drunk and we had some trouble. I left him and returned home. (Dad had forgiven me). Now I love my husband but his mother does not want us to live together and has done everything in her power to keep us apart.

I have a good home now but I can't see him while staying at home.

What can I do to win him back and be happy?

BAND RING.

BAND RING: My dear, your place now is with your husband. There is only one thing for you to do, and that is to go to him. Perhaps your influence will help him to overcome his bad habits, but as long as you were the one to leave him, it is your place to return to him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl, eighteen years old. I have been corresponding with a boy one year my senior. Most of his letters are what you might call love letters. He has asked me to answer and express my love for him.

When I want to know if it is proper for a girl to write love letters to a boy even if she does not intend to marry him. Although I care for this boy I do not love him.

BILLIE.

BILLIE: My advice would be DON'T write silly love letters that you don't mean. They only cheapen you in the eyes of the recipient and cheapen your own self respect. If you truly love a man and are his fiancée, that's something else. But a casual correspondence should be kept absolutely free of all sentimentality.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and have been going with a young man eighteen years of age. One night he asked me to go to the movies and as it was raining he called up and said we hadn't better go. Instead of that he took another girl to a dance. Then in a few weeks he came around asking me to go somewhere with him. I refused and still he keeps asking me to go places. What should I do, accept his invitation or not pay any attention to him. Please advise me.

UNDECIDED.

UNDECIDED: You are not engaged to the young man, therefore, you cannot rule his conduct, my dear. If you like him and enjoy going out with him, by all means accept his invitations, but it might be best to let him feel that you had other friends and engagements. Just have another engagement once in a while when he asks you to go out, and then when you do go, don't chide him for his other engagements, nor say anything to him that would indicate jealousy on your part.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a widow twenty-six years old, and I am going to be married. I was thinking of being married in white with a veil and somebody said I shouldn't get married in white. What is your idea about this?

PUZZLED AND ANXIOUS.

PUZZLED AND ANXIOUS: No, my dear, it would be most unconventional for you to be married in white and a veil. This is for a bride, and as you have been that once, and are now a widow it would be most improper. A pretty gray dress, or one of the lovely soft shades of blue, or any of the pastel shades would be so much more appropriate.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my twenties, and find your advice a great help.

A young man, a dear and old friend, came with others to spend a social evening. On his departure he asked if he might leave his instrument and call for it later. I had it for a few days, but he did not call. A friend of mine told me he was going to call for it on a certain night, but he did not come. We have moved since and I do not see him at all. I did not have an opportunity to tell him of our leaving his neighborhood. Should I call him up or send an invitation for him to call for it? I will appreciate your advice very much. Thanking you.

WAITING.

WAITING: Drop the young man a note and advise him of your change of address. Or if you could telephone him and tell him that you have moved, give him your new address, and tell him you still have the instrument and thought perhaps he would like to call for it. But I think it would be best to write.

2598

The fullness in skirt is cleverly manipulated to achieve uneven hemline. It is designed in three sections, with the left front shaped to give dipping side effect, and skirted at upper part to secure flat hipline. The three cornered neckline with jabot trim is notched so as to be drawn into a sunburst ripple. The full girdle swaths the figure. Style No. 2598 chooses printed velvet in a novel dot pattern in soft green and beige tones. The only trimming required are rhinestone buckles at neckline and waistline, and rhinestone buttons that decorate long tight-fitting sleeves. The pattern for this attractive dress can be had in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches bust. Plain sheer velvet, velvet, tulle, crepe, crepe satin, georgette crepe, crepe Roma and crepe Elizabeth, also appropriate. Price 15 cents, in stamps or coin (coin preferred).

DENY JETT BOY DEATH DUE TO MISTREATMENT

Mortician Corroborates State Industrial School Chiefs.

MOTHER PROTESTS
Gov. Donahey Will be Asked to Investigate.

LANCASTER, O., Jan. 11.—Statements made today by Frank E. Smith, mortician, who prepared the body of Hamilton Jett, 17, for burial, corroborated the denials made by officials of the state industrial school here, that the boy was not mistreated.

The industrial school authorities declared the boy had not been beaten during his confinement there and that he died of pneumonia. Smith stated that there were no marks indicating mistreatment on the body when he received it.

Washington county authorities at Marietta are investigating the charges made by the boy's mother, Mrs. Henry Jett, to the effect that her son was forced to attend target practice while he was so ill he could not stand; and that he was set upon and beaten when he dropped from exhaustion.

Mrs. Jett declares her son told her of those incidences when she visited him here a week before he died.

Jett, who comes from a respected Marietta family, ran away from home last year and was sent to the reformatory from Columbus on forged charges. It is said he forged a few small checks.

It is understood here that Washington county officials plan to take the case before Gov. Donahey, and that O. S. Creighton, Washington county representative to the general assembly, will be asked to use his influence to effect a probe of conditions at the institution.

Rambo Funeral.
Funeral services for Bertha May, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rambo, were held this afternoon in the home, 1843 Harvey avenue, in charge of the Rev. Mr. Steel, of Vanport, Pa. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery, Chester, W. Va.

Club to Elect Officers.
Officers will be elected at a special meeting of the St. Theresa club to be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. Ann's Catholic church, Pennsylvania avenue.

Famous Alienist Says Many Mental Cases are Curable

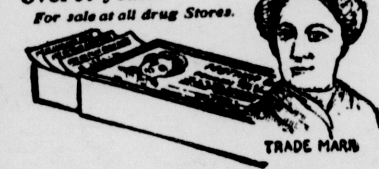

CHICAGO.—The average layman regards "insanity" as a mysterious affliction and his opinion is often colored more or less by superstition according to Dr. Alex. S. Hershfield, state alienist.

"Some believe that 'insanity' cannot be prevented. There is nothing further from the truth," declared Dr. Hershfield. "It is a matter of daily experience that the symptoms or danger signals of an oncoming mental upset can usually be recognized, and if these are given immediate proper medical attention, the threatened mind sickness can often be avoided."

FOR CHILDREN
A testimonial from a lady in California, whose name will be given if requested.

"I have been using Mother Gray's Powders these last 15 years and all my friends and neighbors are using them just now during the 'flu.' They are fine for checking the fever. In 1918 I mailed them to a friend who was nursing down there during the 'flu.' Children who are troubled with constipation, feverishness, bowel trouble or take cold easily, get quick relief from these powders that Mother Gray has recommended for over 30 years.

DANGERS DEFIED IN "SUBMARINE"

One of the most dangerous sequences ever made for a motion picture forms a part of the action of Columbia's "Submarine," which is now at the Ceramic theater. It was made under the skillful direction of Frank Capra and shows the flooded chambers of a submarine.

Four cameras were trained on the set. The side was rammed and the ocean poured in. Ralph Graves and fourteen extras as sailors fought the torrent. More than ten thousand gallons of sea water surged into the chamber while the men fought impending death by escaping into another compartment.

It was one of the scenes in a picture which had to be perfect without rehearsals or retakes, for once the water had poured into the chamber it was wrecked beyond salvage. The equipment used in this scene including motors, torpedo tubes, gauges and the like originally cost more than $20.

900. Most of the apparatus was destroyed by the water.

Columbia is to be commended for the manner in which the scene was handled. The chamber was constructed in such a manner that the actors could get out as soon as the water became dangerous and the air unhealthy. Although there was a wild scramble on the part of the men, the entire sequence was taken without a single mishap. Not a single person sustained as much as a scratch or bruise.

BARTHELMESS HIT AT NEW STATE

Put down another dramatic bullseye for Richard Barthelmess!

The First National star has added another histrionic classic to his recent "The Patent Leather Kid" and "The Noose," in "The Wheel of Chance," the film version of Pauline Hurs' short story, "Roulette," which opened to enthusiastic acclaim last night at the State theater.

In "The Wheel of Chance" Barthelmess enacts a dual role, each one a clear-cut character delineation worthy of being placed alongside his finest portrayals. The contrasting study of the two roles, that of twin brothers, presents a startling new phase of the acting ability of Barthelmess, who has proved in a series of rare portraits his right to the top niche on the ladder of Thespis.

The story of "The Wheel of Chance" relates the dramatic adventures of twin brothers, separated in childhood by a trick of fate, and meeting again 20 years later in one of the most dramatically conceived scenes in the history of the motion picture. To tell more than this would be to take away the thrills and enjoyment in witnessing "The Wheel of Chance."

Alfred Santell, who also directed "The Patent Leather Kid," has invested "The Wheel of Chance" with excellent production and dramatic values.

Barthelmess, as usual, has been surrounded with a superlative cast including Lina Basquette, who did such fine work in "The Noose"; Margaret Livingston as "the other woman"; Bodil Rosing as the delicately etched mother; Warner Oland as the father; and other important roles played by Spee O'Donnell; the little twin boys, Ray and Roy Berendzen; Jacob Abrams; Ann Seuffer; Charles Cary, Joseph Girdard and others.

Recent estimates show that capital investments of Americans in the Tientsin district of China total nearly $25,000,000.

In the past seven years the number of tourists visiting Hawaii yearly has increased from 8,000 to more than 17,000.

LYTELL IS WINNER IN "ON TRIAL"

Bert Lytell, featured in Warner Bros. latest all-talking Vitaphone special, "On Trial," now showing at the American theater, was born and educated in New York City.

Coming from a prominent theatrical family, it was natural for him to turn to the stage. For many years he was leading man for various stock companies that traveled all over the world, and also appeared in numerous Broadway successes.

His father and brother were both on the stage, and Lytell, through hearing their talk of the profession, then began to desire a screen career as well.

He numbers among his biggest screen successes "Lombardi, Ltd.," "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "The Have and to Hold," "Rupert of Hentzau," "Never the Twain Shall Meet," and Warner Bros. "Lady Windermere's Fan."

In "On Trial," Bert Lytell is cast as Strickland, accused of the murder of his friend and benefactor, John Trask. Trask becomes involved in the affair through suspicion aroused by a letter found in the bag of Mrs. Strickland, which showed that she had spent a night in Trask's company. A dishonest secretary of Mr. Trask had really killed him, while in the act of stealing money brought to Trask by Strickland. Lytell gives a magnificent performance as the accused but innocent man.

According to the governor general's last report tourist traffic is characterized as "Hawaii's fastest growing and most interesting means of livelihood."

NETWORK OF IMPROVED HIGHWAYS SHOWN ON COUNTY'S 1928 MAP

In 1917 Cox and Lincoln Roads Were Only Completed Arteries of Transportation.

LISBON, O., Jan. 11. — Two maps, one showing the improved highways within the county as they existed at the close of the 1917 construction period when H. C. Armstrong was county surveyor, and another showing the improved and surfaced roads completed at the close of 1928 construction, Lloyd C. Kirk, surveyor, have been placed in the office of the county commissioners.

The Cox highway along the northern line of the county and the Lincoln highway through the center and southeastern part of the county were the only roads completed in 1917.

The 1928 map shows a network of improved highways, and a record of the improved highway mileage is now being compiled by George C. Porter, chief deputy under Kirk. This record will be filed with the state highway department during the next few weeks.

Probably between 12 and 15 miles of improved highways will be added to the record during 1929, according to plans made by the commissioners and the state highway department.

There are more miles of concrete highways in Columbiana county than any other type of construction. All highways to be built this year will be of concrete.

12 PETIT JURORS CALLED MONDAY

A special panel of 12 has been drawn for petit jury duty, with instructions to report at Lisbon Monday morning. Those names drawn are:

L. V. Smith and wife to Adele M. Nichol, lot 60 in Homeworth, $1.

Clyde Conrad and others to L. V. Smith and others, lot 59 and part of lot 66 in Homeworth, $1.

Lillian Farmer to Lester L. Farmer, lot 4 in Aldridge addition, Lisbon, $1,000.

Damage Verdict for $568.19.
A jury in the case of Paul E. Myers against the Famous Dairy Co., of Salem, has returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $568.19. In this case, $16,550 was asked as a result of an automobile and truck collision in the Salem-Danvers road. The case had been pending since Oct. 29, 1927.

Sue for $6,093.94.
In the suit of Wesley Mitzell and J. A. Morrison, doing business as the Superior Dairy Products company, against J. S. Yaggi and others of Salem, the court has granted the plaintiffs leave to file a reply. This is an action to recover $6,093.94 claimed due on a contract for selling cheese.

Defendant Wins Mortgage Suit.
There has been a finding in favor of the defendant in the case of Lena Breakstone against Benjamin Warnick and others, an action to cancel a mortgage and clear title to property.

Husband's Quarry!

Mrs. Katherine T. Condict, who posed with this tiger's head, is now being trailed by her husband, New York real estate dealer, who charges she abducted their child. Condict is a lineal descendant of John Alden. (International Newsreel)

Foreclosure Petition Filed.

But Capel and John Litty have been ordered to appear in common pleas court next Monday to answer proceedings in aid of execution in the foreclosure petition filed by the Farmers' National bank of Salem against Hush Duncan.

Mortgage is Foreclosed.
A decree foreclosing a mortgage has been entered in the case of the Lacroft Land company, against Mary E. Fry and others. An order of sale has been issued in this case, and there has been a finding determining the priority of liens.

Defendants to Answer Foreclosure.
Leave to the defendants to file an amended answer on or before Jan. 26 has been granted in the case of Zana S. McCrea against Sadie and Thomas J. Jackson, an action in foreclosure.

Educator's Pay Only Equal to 1914 Scale

Trevor Arnett, President, Quotes From Survey Of Teachers' Salaries, at Dinner of Association of American Colleges.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 11.—In spite of various increases made during the last 13 years, the salary of the average college and university instructor has no more purchasing power now than it had in 1914, Trevor Arnett, president, told members of the Association of American Colleges at their fifteenth annual dinner here.

SEEK CHRIST, IS APPEAL OF REV. I. M. ELLIS

Surrender to Lord, Urges Nazarene Evangelist. 10 CONVERTED Texan Speaks in Afternoon on "Rapture of Saints."

"Failure to give themselves wholly to the Lord in a complete, unconditional surrender causes a majority of the unsaved to lose salvation," affirmed the Rev. I. M. Ellis, Texas evangelist, at the First Nazarene church revival in St. Clair avenue last night. His subject was "The Success of the Seeker."

Ten persons experienced conversion during the service and five during the afternoon meeting, the total for the series so far thus being 88. That all men seeking the Lord can find Him was emphasized by the evangelist in his discourse. He indicated how Paul, Zaccheus, the publican and other scriptural characters had by seeking earnestly found God. "All three made a complete surrender once they realized they were sinners," he said. "Then followed their repentance, renouncement of the world and the consequent growth of their spiritual stature. In Paul's case he was able to finally say, 'I have fought a good fight, kept the faith, and now a crown is laid up for me.'"

Afternoon Meeting Today. He spoke also in the afternoon on the "Rapture of the Saints," as indicated in the Book of Revelations. This afternoon he noted the tribulations spoken of in the same book.

No afternoon meeting will be held on Saturday.

Much interest is being shown in the viewpoints of the Rev. Mr. Ellis on Revelations. "His addresses thereon are appealing," asserted the Rev. O. L. Benedum, the pastor, "and are attracting many to hear them."

The subject for tonight's sermon by the Rev. Mr. Ellis will be "Sin, Its Result and Laws."

Choir of 25 Voices. The musical service was led by a choir of 25 voices last night, aided by the 15-piece church orchestra.

Edward Patsch, formerly of Wellsville, sang "I Find No Fault in Him." A quartet composed of Gail Hutchinson, Raymond Davis, Leltoy Puller and Carl Green offered the selection, "Don't Forget To Pray."

Pastors Attend Services. Last night's invocation was made by Willis Headley, a layman of the church.

In attendance at the service was the Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church here; the Rev. Howard Smith of the Lisbon Nazarene church, and the Rev. B. H. Pocock, a Nazarene evangelist of Akron.

Announcement was made that the Rev. T. M. Anderson, an evangelist now holding a series of meetings in the New Brighton, Pa., Nazarene church, will attend the service on Saturday night. He will be accompanied by the pastor of that congregation, the Rev. Arthur Gould, a singer.

Both will be able to come here since Saturday is their rest day in the Pennsylvania revival.

A man of 54 in England was recently given 53 years to pay, in installments, a debt of $735.

Over 3 Million Americans Daily On Sick List

Insurance statistics show that there are over three million people sick every day in the U. S. Naturally there are more than this—consider the many millions who do not report their illness.

Rather a deplorable condition to be sure—but the truth is in this rush age of machinery, people haven't the vitality and stamina to resist disease—they are constantly ailing with headaches, colds, physical fatigue and nerve exhaustion.

That's why McCoy's Tablets are becoming more and more known as America's Health Builder—their invigorating and health-promoting qualities quickly help recharge weak, run-down, tired bodies with new virility, energy and physical strength. Fortify your self against epidemics and contagious diseases—throw off that burden of nervousness, sapped vitality and body weakness—enjoy the splendid health and happiness McCoy's Tablets are known to give.

If you need more flesh, are run-down, weak, nervous and feeling miserable, you can get 60 McCoy's Tablets for 60 cents at Mathew's Medicine Store or any drugstore in America.

You can take these tablets for 30 days—then if you are not satisfied with the improvement in health—get your money back. —Adv.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

"Well—say!" he began, and "For heaven's sake, what's the matter?" Her face was livid, her voice choked with hiccupping sobs. A torrent of words shook her, poured over him before he collected his wits enough to listen. Was this Daphne? This white-faced fury? It couldn't be! . . . He missed the import of her first burning, incoherent words. Slowly it dawned on him. She was accusing him. Accusing him of ruining Allan Win- ters, to save himself.

"You're crazy!" he said, and tried to smile, but his lips were so dry he couldn't.

He put his hands to his throbbing temples and wished the pounding would stop, so that he could think. "You've given me a fine headache," he whispered resentfully. "Coming here with a cock and bull story like that. You ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

She had apparently said all she had to say, and his first numb panic began to give place to anger. What did she mean anyway? Who would believe her crazy yarn? "Say! Nobody is going to talk like that to me, not even a silly girl!" he blustered. "You change your tune, Daphne, and change it quick—d'you hear me? What would anybody think who heard you? Nice kind of story to spread. . . . Why, he skipped ten months ago! This is a fine time to come shoveling old dirt!"

Ten months ago—almost a year. He had almost forgotten the whole miserable business. Now she had to come and raked it up. The pulse in his temple went on hammering. His fingers ached to shake her, to hurt her. . . . After ten months . . . to start this . . . hadn't he had trouble enough?

He licked his dry lips. "I don't want to hear any more about it—do you understand? I'll put up with a lot from you, Daphne, but there are limits. That's too much. After all I did for him. I suppose you are still rankling over what I said last night. I hit the nail on the head, that's all. Well, I've taken enough from him, and you, too, if you are a woman. Just pull that kind of talk again and there'll be trouble. I won't take it—not from anybody!"

She listened, very quietly. Apparently she had nothing to say. She had gone off like a rocket, he decided, and spent herself. Her white-hot fury had cooled. She was the old Daphne again, small and quiet and timid. He even managed a laugh. "Craziest thing I ever heard. Ha, ha!—But don't let me hear it again!"

He was right, her fury was spent, but it was not the old Daphne who was waiting quietly for him to finish. The old Daphne was gone, never to come back again. It was a new Daphne now, a Daphne grown up.

"Very well," she said in a small, cold voice. "I won't say anything more to you about it. I was foolish to have come. I came on the impulse of the moment. I thought—I don't know what I thought. Perhaps I expected a miracle. I found Allan was innocent. Perhaps I thought I could find you innocent too. . . . But I'm not sorry I came. I've told you." She smiled then, with bitter pity. "You can skip too!"

He let her get almost to the door, and then he was upon her, pinning her arms, pushing her against the wall. "Daphne—listen to me. Don't do anything you'll regret. What have you found? What is it? Have they planted something on me?—what do you think you have? tell me!"

He was hurting her wrists, but she made no effort to release them. "Don't you understand, Ralph? I found the records—the bank withdrawals you know, and Allan's account of every cent he turned over to you—"

He dropped her hands. Wiped his mouth with a neat handkerchief. "A mere blind," he smiled. "What does it mean? Nothing at all." He was speaking very smoothly now. Almost too smoothly. "What would a man in his position naturally do? Just that. He drew money from the bank—for reasons best known to himself. I trusted him so excessively that I never questioned. There's where I am open to public censure. I was too lax. My nature, you know. I let him run things his way—which he did! He played the little game they all play—he thought he could beat the market, buying on a close margin."

"If things had gone as he expected, he'd have made a fortune, and no one the wiser. But the unforeseen happened—he was caught short, with some twenty thousand to raise in a hurry. So he left—without leaving a forwarding address, and that, my dear little girl, is the situation in a nutshell. Had he remained he would have been forced to explain. As it was, I was stuck for his losses. Greely gave me the third degree and got it out of me. I'd have spared him if I could. I stood the loss. Wasn't that enough?"

She shook her head. "No. It's no use, Ralph. No use at all," she repeated wearily. "It's all there in black and white. Even some notes from you, asking for money. Even one note from Allan to you demanding an accounting, and your answer written right on it—"

She saw him start. One eyebrow was twitching nervously. "Mr. Greely has it all—I left it with him before I came here. . . . I thought it was best. . . . I wanted you to know—"

"Very kind of you," he said at last. "You've taken good care to clear your little friend, and pin it on me." And then, with immense sarcasm, "You'll send me elevating literature when I'm in jail?"

"Jail—why—it wouldn't be that—"

"If he's framed me it will."

"But your money. . . . It was your money! You'll just be clearing Allan, that's all. Mr. Greely wouldn't—"

"You didn't hear," he sneered. "It's one of us—Allan or me. Allan skipped. Therefore it's me. Oh I'll admit I played a bit too. Maybe some of those withdrawals were mine—one or two—but I'll get the blame for it all. I know Greely—he's always hated me. Well, it's all right, I guess. Go back and report to Greely—tell him he was too smart for me as usual—he got me!—The dirty shyster!"

He sank into a chair, and buried his blond head in his hands.

There seemed nothing left to wait for, nothing left to say. She began to pick up her things.

"Go on," he said through his shaking fingers. "Make it snappy. What are you waiting for?"

CHAPTER 62.

She looked back. It is always fatal to look back. Daphne knew it as she turned.

Ralph's blond head was still buried in his hands. Long shuddering breaths shook him. . . . Crying. . . . Ralph crying. . . .

So she came to him, and put her small, cold hands on his shoulders. "I'm sorry," she said painfully. "It's just my luck that it had to be me, to find out—"

The odd, choking noise went on, and she waited nervously. "Please don't take it like that," she begged. After a while she dropped to her knees beside him, comforting him. She was wiled with pity and disgust. This was the man she had loved so well. The man whom she had believed could not do a little thing. This was her idol shattered. This was the end of her dreams.

She sighed, and he raised his head. "I can't believe it—that you could do this to me, Daphne. It hurts!" He brushed his wet eyes with the back of his hand. "After all we've been to each other—"

"After all we've been . . . to each other?" she questioned gently. She couldn't keep her voice steady. It shook, betraying her.

"You did love me, Daphne?"

"Yes, I thought so."

"You thought so! Don't you know? You told me. Don't you remember?"

She couldn't face him then. Her eyes sought the floor. Did she remember? Poor Daphne! Could she ever forget?

"Don't you know?"

She nodded. "Yes, I loved you, Ralph."

He reached out his arms to her then, laughing a little unsteadily. "Of course you did—and you'll always be my girl. Listen, we'll forget this row. We'll go away, you and I. We two together, Daphne—we'll defy them all. What does anyone know against us? Oh Greely—but—once we're married, and we're clear of here he'll forget it."

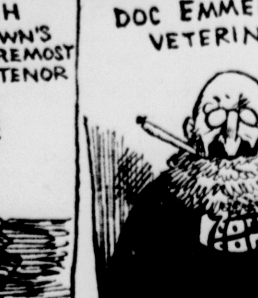

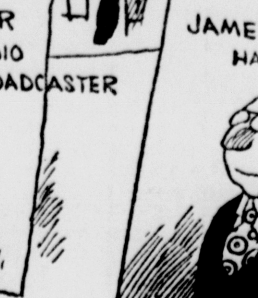

"You don't have to worry, that's straight. Chivalrous old crook—wouldn't come after me if I were married. We're safe as Liberty bells. We'll snap our fingers at the world, and we'll go sailing off on our honeymoon in the Royal suite—no, the bridal suite, and see the sights in London and gay Paris. . . . You'll never be sorry. . . . Name the day, Daphne. . . . tomorrow?"

He tilted back her head—the old gesture. She was crying quietly. Hopelessly.

Advises 68-Degree Rooms in Flu Fight

Dr. Harry L. Rockwood, Cleveland Health Commissioner, Predicts Epidemic Will Last All Winter—South is Hit.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 11.—A room temperature of 68 degrees was urged by Health Commissioner Harry L. Rockwood yesterday as one of the best precautions against the flu. Though the epidemic took a sharp downward trend yesterday, Dr. Rockwood said it probably would be prevalent all winter and that individual precautions should be continued.

A 68-degree ruling, imposed this week on the Cleveland Heights schools by Dr. Robert Lockhart, district health commissioner of the Cuyahoga County Board of Health and director of health of Cleveland Heights, raised some objections from the children and their parents during the near-zero weather of the early part of the week. Some of the children said they had to wear their coats in the class room.

"I heard no complaints," Dr. Lockhart said. "There is more danger of taking cold living in a room above 70 degrees than in one even as low as 64 degrees."

The influenza epidemic has increased over the country as a whole due to a spread in the southern states, reports from the United States Public Health Service in Washington yesterday indicated. New cases reported for the week ended Jan. 5, were 195,553, compared with 162,288 cases the preceding week. Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi were the greatest sufferers.

With only 53 new cases reported in two days, Dr. G. E. French, Elyria health commissioner, predicted that he would remove the ban on public gatherings by the end of the week. In this case, Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday will open his six-week evangelistic campaign there Sunday morning.

The state welfare department proudly announced that in its 22 institutions not one fatality had resulted from the epidemic, though at one time there were 160 cases in the Industrial Home for Boys at Lancaster alone.

COLD WEATHER CHECKING FLU

Elyria and Niles Lift Bans on Assemblies.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11.—The menace of influenza was passing in northern Ohio today. Recent cold weather in the section is believed by health authorities to have been chiefly instrumental in checking the epidemic. At Elyria and Niles, where bans on all public assemblies have been in effect for some time, the order has been lifted. "Billy" Sunday, noted evangelist, who had scheduled a campaign at Elyria, will begin his series next week. It had been postponed by the closing order from last week.

Said to be worth $5,000, the 500-carat opal found at Grawin Field, New South Wales, has been named "Sunset Queen."

After the bridegroom, clergyman and guests had gathered at St. Mary's church, Lowgate, England, recently, it was learned that the bride had been forgotten, and the ceremony was delayed while an automobile was sent in search of her and her father.

Indict 15 in Ohio City Political Fight

Former Mayor H. A. Alspach of Lancaster Among Those Charged With Distributing Literature of Defamatory Character.

LANCASTER, O., Jan. 11.—Charged with distributing literature of a defamatory character during the recent election campaign, former Mayor H. A. Alspach and 14 other persons today had been indicted by the Fairfield county grand jury.

Return of the report marked several weeks of deliberation and the longest session a grand jury ever held in this county. Forty-one persons were indicted.

The 15, including two election judges, are charged "with causing to be printed and distributed literature of a defamatory character preceding the November election." During that period, considerable discussion was aroused in the county by the circulars which labeled certain candidates unfit for office.

At times those born under this sign are indolent but when their ambition is aroused they accomplish undertakings with thoroughness and dispatch, she said.

All libra natives are idealistic and have talent for music or painting, according to Miss Hald.

Many new airports are being established in Guatemala.

New Year Babies Will Be Lovers Of Peace, Unity

BOSTON.—Babies born on the first day of this year will be great lovers of peace and unity, will possess poise, tact, equanimity, and composure and will have a fine sense of right and wrong, according to Edna Blake Hald, Boston astrologist.

These babies, according to Miss
